

AAll Reno-Sparks Investor Education Group Meeting

Date and Time: Thursday, September 11, 2014, 7 to 9 p.m.

Presentation Title and Synopsis:

Winning Stocks in an Aging Bull Market

Stock markets trace a sinuous curve over time. From a "bottom" prices tentatively rise, gain momentum and eventually top out. Afterwards, a shallow decline accelerates into a bigger swoon that forms a new bottom. [Rise, Fall, Repeat.] Though the average stock is a winner on the way to "tops" and a loser on the way to "bottoms", some stocks and sectors do better than average at each stage of the stock market cycle.

This month we'll discuss stocks that could be above-average money makers in the late stages of a bull market... which many observers think we're about to experience.

Published analysts suggest that "late stage" bull market winners have frequently included stocks in these sectors: energy; healthcare; consumer staples; technology; financials; materials and commodities. Maybe they're right. Sometimes they are.

At the September meeting, we want to hear YOUR suggestion for a stock or fund that can excel as the bull market approaches its "top", let's say the coming eighteen months.

Please select ONE publicly traded stock or fund to recommend to the group. If possible, bring a handout sheet(s) describing your security to distribute [20 copies would be terrific]. You don't have to limit yourself to the sectors that analysts like... apply your own judgment... if analysts were so smart they'd be rich and retired, not writing reports about late stage bull markets!
