

2019 Tax Planning Calendar

Tax and financial planning are activities best pursued year-round. Although the timing of some activities is critical, you should review all tax considerations from the perspective of your specific needs and establish an individualized planning calendar.

If the last day for filing a return, paying tax or performing other activities falls on a Saturday, Sunday or legal holiday (in the District of Columbia), you generally have until the next day that is not a Saturday, Sunday or legal holiday to perform that act. Use the following list to remind yourself of important activities and dates.

First Quarter

General

- Complete Form W-4, Employee's Withholding Allowance Certificate, and adjust withholding, if needed.
- Evaluate before-tax and voluntary aftertax contributions to retirement plans.
- Apply for a Social Security number for any child who does not have one.

January 15

- Pay fourth-quarter 2018 estimated tax voucher if you did not pay your income tax for the year through withholding, or if you did not pay enough through withholding. You do not have to make this payment if you file your 2018 return and pay any tax due by January 31, 2019.
- Make quarterly defined-benefit Keogh contribution for preceding year.

January 31

- File your income tax return (Form 1040) for 2018 if you did not pay your last installment of estimated tax by January 15. Filing your return and paying any tax due by January 31 prevents any penalty for late payment of last installment.
- Make sure you have received a Form W-2 from each employer you worked for in 2018.

Second Quarter

April 1

- Comply with required minimum distribution (RMD) rules for qualified retirement plans if you attained age 70½ in the previous year. (This deadline does not change when April 1 falls on a weekend or on a holiday.)

April 15

- Make prior-year IRA and Coverdell Education Savings Account contributions.
- Make prior-year Keogh or SEP plan contribution (unless you applied for an extension of time to file your return).
- Make quarterly defined-benefit Keogh contribution for the current year.
- File individual and gift tax returns (or apply for an extension); residents of Massachusetts and Maine can file on April 16. If you want an automatic six-month extension of time to file the return, file Form 4868; or, you can get an extension (until October 15) by phone or over the internet if you pay part or all of your estimate of income tax due with a credit card.
- File Schedule H (Form 1040) with your tax return if you paid cash wages of $2,100 or more in 2018 to a household employee.
- Report federal unemployment (FUTA) tax on Schedule H if you paid total cash wages of $1,000 or more in any calendar quarter of 2017 or 2018 to household employees.
- Pay first-quarter estimated tax if you are not paying your 2018 income tax through withholding or you will not pay enough that way.

June 17

- Pay second-quarter estimated tax voucher if you are not paying your income tax for the year through withholding, or if you are not withholding enough.

Third Quarter

July 15

- Make quarterly defined-benefit Keogh contribution for the current year.

September 16

- Pay third-quarter estimated tax voucher if you are not paying your income tax for the year through withholding, or if you are not withholding enough.

Fourth Quarter

General

Begin your year-end tax planning:

- Project your current-year and next-year tax liabilities.
- Evaluate the applicability of the AMT (if not repealed by tax reform) and other taxes.
- Adjust withholding, if necessary.
- Evaluate year-end capital transactions.
- Establish a separate Keogh plan for self-employment income.
- Comply with minimum distribution rules for qualified plans.

October 15

- If you extended your individual tax return, file your 2018 income tax return and pay any tax, interest and penalties due.
- Make quarterly defined-benefit Keogh contribution for the current year.

December 31

- Comply with required minimum distribution (RMD) rules for qualified retirement plans. Can delay until April 1, 2020, if you attained age 70½ during 2019.

Throughout the Year

- Re-evaluate your long-term strategies.
- Evaluate your tax and financial strategy for receiving discretionary and mandatory retirement plan distributions.
- Rebalance investment portfolio and re-evaluate your uses of debt.
- Consider making gifts up to the annual gift tax exclusion.
- Evaluate passive loss exposure and potential investment shifts.
- If you have excess cash flow, consider how to invest those funds.
- Optimize mix of interest expense items.
- Consider making charitable contributions of property.
- Consider ways to fund your children's education.
- Evaluate your mix of portfolio and passive income.

tax costs against the long-term tax advantages. For more on this, see "Retirement Planning Strategies Following the 2017 Tax Act" and "Social Security and Medicare Can Raise Retirees' Tax Rates" by William Reichenstein and William Meyer in the March 2018 and April 2018, respectively, AII Journal (both available at AII.com). Conversions can no longer be undone (a "recharacterization"); this was ended by the TCJA.

You cannot convert required minimum distributions from your traditional IRA for a particular year (including the calendar year in which you reach age 70½) to a Roth IRA. IRS Publication 590-A explains the rules for Roth IRA conversions and Publication 590-B covers the rules for RMDs.

Take Advantage of Lower Marginal Rates

Deferring income that is taxed at higher ordinary tax rates makes sense. Most taxpayers will pay long-term capital gains tax rates of 0% or 15%. For married couples filing jointly with income above $479,000 and single filers with income above $425,800 in 2018, the long-term capital gains rate is 20%. In 2019, the 20% long-term capital gains tax rate will apply to married couples filing jointly and single filers with incomes above $488,850 and $434,550, respectively. Short-term capital gains, in contrast, are taxed at ordinary income tax rates of 37% in 2018 and 2019. The 3.8% net investment income (NII) surtax applies to taxpayers with income above the $250,000/$200,000 thresholds. This tax applies to both short- and long-term capital gains, as well as taxable interest, dividends, non-qualified annuities, rents and royalties and passive income from partnerships. The NII surtax is not indexed to inflation, and the $250,000/$200,000 thresholds are effective for both 2018 and 2019.

Similar rules apply to qualified dividends. For married couples filing jointly with income above $479,000 and single filers with income above $425,800 in 2018, dividends are taxed at 20%. In 2019, the 20% qualified dividend tax rate will apply to married couples filing jointly and single filers with incomes above $488,850 and $434,550, respectively.

Though tax considerations should never be the primary reason for selling a security, if you have large positions in either gifted or inherited stocks, or stocks received from a sale of a business, you
