Price/Sales	59	5.85	1.52
Price/Earnings	na	na	17.7

Shareholder Yield	67	(5.7%)	(5.5%)
Price/Book Value	64	20.08	2.77
Price/Free Cash Flow	20	7.9	15.2

The Value Score is the percentile rank of the average of the percentile ranks of the price-to-sales ratio, price-earnings ratio, enterprise-value-to-EBITDA (EV/EBITDA) ratio, shareholder yield, price-to-book-value ratio and price-to-free-cash-flow ratio. The score is variable, meaning it can consider all six ratios or, should any of the six ratios not be valid, the remaining ratios that are valid. To be assigned a Value Score, stocks must have a valid (non-null) ratio and corresponding ranking for at least two of the six valuation ratios.

EXPE has a Value Score of 60, which is considered to be Average.

The foundation of growth investing is the notion that stocks of companies exhibiting strong, consistent and prolonged growth outperform those of slower-growth companies. Growth has several dimensions, including year-over-year increases in sales and earnings, longer-term historical sales and earnings growth rates and analyst-forecasted long-term earnings growth.

The components consider a company's success in growing its sales, earnings per share, and operating cash on a year-over-year basis for the latest reported fiscal quarter and on an annualized basis over the last five years.

EXPE has a growth score of 47, which is Average.
